

H H Baselios Marthoma Didymus I: A Dynamic Sage

Fr. Dr. Varghese M Daniel, Fordham University, USA

Raised a star in the East and lead by an enlightened guru Thoma Mar Dionysius
Represented and transfigured by the early monastic life in Mount Tabor fortress
Radiated and enlightened by H H Geevarghese II and H H Augen Catholicose
Received this star for Malankara Church and enthroned as the seventh Catholicose

Shortest epoch in the throne of St. Thomas, but weaved a golden era of luminance
Served as great shepherd, no noise, but whose spontaneous smile decorated the space
Stirred and inspired many lives by His holiness's ascetic and ecstasy of saintly life
Sagely leading, not by words, but through humility and simplicity without hypocrisy.

Sparkled earthly life like a hermit with solitary meditation and hourly praying
Stored enormous energy for long life and nurtured the inner-man through fasting
Struggled through stony and thorny paths in the early days in Malabar diocese
Softened, harmonized and transformed with perseverance and persistence.

Enriched numerous lives by His Holiness' untainted passions for education
Encouraged to reach the zenith and to be a scholar of the subject with edification
Efficient bishops, priests, sisters and experts emerged by this selfless vision,
Enfold this prophetic vision for the better future of the Church and Her mission.

Edifying teacher in schools and colleges, who read the mind of the students
Energetic priest in parishes, who listened to the voices of the needy and poor
Empathetic bishop, who was never luxurious but heeded the priests and diocese
Exuberant Catholicose, who safeguarded the faith and discipline of the Church.

Beauteous voice echoed the walls of God's temple with melodious tune
Benevolent enough to fortify a person into the presence of glorious Triune
Beloved Bava entered into the eternal glory to offer prayers and sacrifices
Beyond the physical realm and earthly constrains of time and space.
